

A. THINKING ABOUT CHILDBIRTH

MODULE 7

Learning about childbirth will help you to make plans for your baby's birth. Most hospitals want to meet the needs of families. You can learn about this care as well as other choices by asking questions.

If you would like to have a particular kind of care and you're not sure it is available, talk it over with your prenatal educator or your health care provider. When the time comes, it will be easier to make the right choices if you know your options.
